Handle thickness:

wall thickness: ~1.2 cm

Verbal Description:

This piece is of a brown/orange paste with micaceous and some white inclusions, and has a black firing core. It seems to be a hollow human arm, slightly curved with the fingers and thumb broken off. There is a vent hole (.9 cm diam.) between where the thumb + fingers might have been. There is an applied element like an ear flare in the bend of the top of the arm. Toward the shoulder end there is an irregularly-shaped area of red paint with fine clouding over it.
